

The University of Arizona College of Education, Department of Language, Reading and Culture,
American Indian Studies Program, and Graduate College invite you to the 19th ANNUAL AMERICAN INDIAN LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT INSTITUTE

GIVING LIFE TO THE LANGUAGE:

Personal Commitments and Responsibilities

JUNE 1-26, 1998

THE UNIVERSITY

OF ARIZONA®

TUCSON,

ARIZONA

The American Indian Language Development Institute (AILDI) celebrates its 19th year as a leading program in American Indian linguistics and Indian education. As we acknowledge this achievement, we also recognize that American Indian and Alaska Native languages are perishing at an alarming rate. This year, AILDI's theme is "Giving Life to the Language: Personal Commitments and Responsibilities." Reflecting this theme, we will feature a special whole-Institute seminar on REVERSING LANGUAGE SHIFT, taught by renowned sociolinguist Joshua A. Fishman, and special training sessions on developing and implementing immersion and master-apprentice language learning programs. Other courses include:

- Bilingual Methods and Materials
- Linguistics for Native American Communities
- Linguistics for Nonmajors
- Teaching Indigenous Languages as Second Languages
- Literacy Development and Native American Literature
- Computer Applications for Teachers
- Foundations of Bilingual Education

The 1998 AILDI is made possible by funding through the College of Education, Office of the Dean and Department of Language, Reading and Culture; American Indian Studies Program; Graduate College; Office of the Provost; Office of Undergraduate Academic Affairs; and Office of Summer Session and Extended University.

HOPI GIRL HOLDING PLATE WITH SHALAKO KACHINA DESIGN, c. 1900
ARIZONA STATE MUSEUM, THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA, F. H. MAUDE, PHOTOGRAPHER.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Dr. Joshua Fishman
Distinguished University Research Professor,
Yeshiva University

Gella Schweid Fishman
Founder and Special Consultant,
Yiddish Secular Schools of American Archives

Dorothy Lazore Mohawk
Language Teacher and Trainer,
Quinte Mohawk School

Luci Tapahonso Navajo
Poet and Writer,
University of Kansas

Terry Supahan and Sara Supahan Karuk
Language Development Trainers,
The Shivshaneen Company

FACULTY

DR. OFELIA ZEPEDA, AILDI Codirector
Tohono O'odham
Linguistics/American Indian Studies

DR. TERESA MCCARTY, AILDI Codirector
Language, Reading and Culture/
American Indian Studies

DR. MARY CAROL COMBS
Language, Reading & Culture

DR. JOSHUA FISHMAN
Linguistics/Anthropology

DR. DAVID HARTLE-SCHUTTE
Language, Reading and Culture

LUCILLE WATAHOMIGIE Hualapai
Peach Springs Bilingual Academic Excellence Program

DR. AKIRA YAMAMOTO
Linguistics/Anthropology

AILDI offers a total of six graduate or undergraduate credit hours, all of which lead toward degree programs and bilingual/ESL endorsements. All courses emphasize interactive, authentic language learning and teaching, with the goal of assisting participants in affirming Indian students' identities and strengthening indigenous languages and cultures.

Come experience AILDI's new format in 1998!